V. Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims 1-9	YES
	Claims	NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	YES
	Claims 1-9	NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims 1-9	YES
	Claims	NO

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

Reference is made to the following documents:

D1: KR 99-13213 A (LG ELECTRONIC CO., LTD.)
D2: US 5,464,220 A (DALE G. HANSEN)

1. Novelty

The subject matter of claims 1-9 conform to the regulations in PCT Article 33(2) and (4) and possess novelty

2. Inventive Step

Claims 1-3 of the present application relate to a system and method for correcting a golf swing of a golfer using the Internet, comprising: photographing means for photographing a golf swing of a golfer and outputting corresponding data; image processing means; weight center detecting means; control means for receiving the image and outputting moving picture data; display means for displaying the output moving picture data; and a Web server for outputting golf swing correcting data or moving picture data.

D1 relates to a position correction system using the image comparison, comprising: an image pickup device for converting an optical signal into an image signal according to the movement that is photographed; a digital conversion means for converting the image signal into digital image data and outputting the data; storing means for storing the image data; image detection/comparison means for outputting an image signal; edge detection means for detecting an edge image through preprocessing the converted image data; and an error imaging means for comparing the edge data and generating error data and image data.

Claims 1-3 of the present application differ from D1 in the use but similar to D1 in the features, as shown above. Therefore, the subject matter of claims 1-3 is considered to lack an inventive step.

Supplemental Box

(To be used when the space in any of the preceding boxes is not sufficient)

Continuation of:

Box V.

D2 relates to a golf practice device comprising a first strip having indicia for indicating proper positioning of a golfer's feet; a second strip from and parallel to said first strip and having a ball marker for indicating a proper ball position, and a plurality of predetermined corner angles corresponding to a plurality of golf clubs, whereby, by arranging said strips to form a selected one of said predetermined corner angles on a template, the correct golf stance and ball placement is indicated for a selected golf club.

It would be obvious to derive the features of claims 4-9 of the present application from those of D2, thereby arriving at the invention of claims 4-9. Therefore, the subject matter of claims 4-9 is considered to lack an inventive step.

3. Industrial Applicability

The subject matter of claims 1-9 is considered to be industrially applicable PCT article 33(4).
